

STILL AIN'T SATISFIED

by Bonnie Lockhart (original and rewrite)

We've made some progress, won some fights,
but I still ain't satisfied
Until we all have equal rights, I still ain't satisfied
We march today, our numbers rising
Let's keep it up; keep organizing!
And I still ain't, woa, they lied (x3) And I still ain't satisfied.
They say it's a democracy, but I still ain't satisfied
'Cause look at our economy, I still. . .
It's not the party of the hour
It's the Wall Street gang that's got the power
We're working hard to fight cut backs, but I still. . . .
Until Wells Fargo pays their tax, and I still. . .|
If we raise the tax on the very wealthy
Our safety net would still be healthy. . .
Abortion still is legal here, but I. . .
'Cause that might not be true next year, and I . . .
I'm singin' about control of my own womb
And nothing less is gonna change my tune. . .
They say the Iraq war is done, but I still. . .
'Cause they're rattling sabers at Iran, and I still. . .
We don't want war, we don't need empire
Let's let the dove replace the vampire. . .

To hear the tune with original words visit: <http://www.folkways.si.edu/search?query=The+Red+Star+Singers>