

Wondrin' Where the Winter Weather Went (Felix Bernard, Jack Lucero Fleck of 350 Bay Area)

Intro

Up in the air, we've pumped CO2
And we didn't care, just what it would do
Now everyone's hopin', 'cause we're all copin' Together.
It's a new season; it's a new clime.
Glaciers are melting, all of the time
And oil keeps spillin'; the earth needs more chill in The weather.

O – ceans rise, droughts are drier,
Stormy skies, floods are higher,
Somethin's not right, we're puzzled
tonight,
Wondrin' where the winter weather went.
(music says "ever went")

Gone away are the cold days,
They don't stay as in old days,
The weather's all wrong as we sing our song,
Wondrin' where the winter weather went.

Bridge 1

In the papers they say you'll have no job
If we do not keep on burning oil,
We say, "Don't believe them, it's a snow job,"
We can use the sun and wind and still not boil!"

Corporations conspire,
Just to make profits higher,
They should be afraid of the mess that they've made
Wondrin' where the winter weather went.

In the Congress they have put deniers,
People who think that the earth is flat,
They say, "Scientists are simply liars,"

And "Burning fossils fuels is where it's at."

Bridge 2

In the Gulf they keep drillin'
Though the oil keeps on spillin'
The wars linger on, we wake up each dawn
Wondrin' where the winter weather went.

Wondrin' where the winter weather went.
