

Ramblin' Man

Words by Paul McKenna, © 2024, to the tune of "Ramblin' Man" by The Allman Brothers

CHORUS:

Lord, I was born a ramblin' man.
I'm tryin' to stay on topic, but I don't think I can.
I'll veer off on some tangent and God knows where I'll land,
'Cause I was born a ramblin' man.

Last week I held a rally down in Georgia.
They said to talk about th'economy.
Instead I went off ramblin' about KaMAAla's name,
Soundin' as crazy as can be.

CHORUS

My script is written on the teleprompter.
It tells me what to say, this I know,
But every time some zany notion pops into my head,
Off into LaLa Land I go.

CHORUS

Some people say I'm showin' the signs of agin'.
My brain is breakin' down in front of you,
Well, if you want to keep me out of the White House, folks,
You know exactly what to do.
VOTE FOR HARRIS!

CHORUS
